Witness Says Toad Is Deadly at Long Range

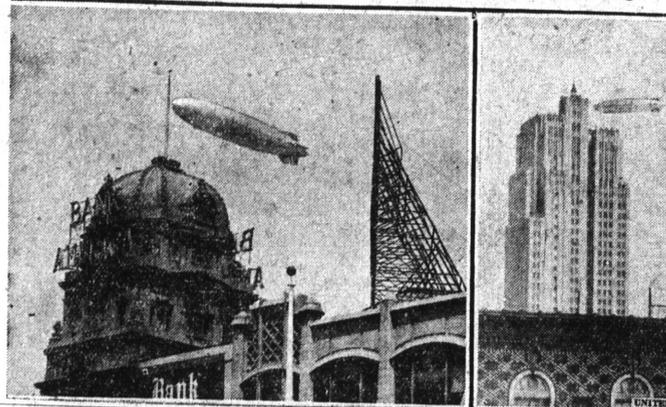

Mexican Variety Discovered Exhales Poison Gas When Frightened

SACRAMENTO. — (U.P.) — A monster Mexican toad, capable of killing animals from a distance with a mysterious effusion from its body, is described in the latest scientific monograph from the Smithsonian Institution reaching the state library here. This long range killer inhabits the hottest portions of the North American continent. It ranges over the border into California and Arizona. Although the exact nature of its poison is unknown, according to Dr. Remington Kellogg of the Smithsonian staff, accounts of persons who have come into contact with the toad indicate it may diffuse a deadly gas when frightened.

One such incident was described by M. F. Musgrave of the United States Biological survey. His terrier attacked one of these toads and shook it to death. Musgrave was an eye witness. When the terrier dropped the toad a large police dog came up and barely touched its nose to the dead creature before it was again seized by the terrier. Musgrave wrote: 'I thought no more about it and started home, the police dog following. He had come no more than 100 feet when his front legs crumpled under him and he pitched forward. His legs and body appeared paralyzed. I immediately realized that something was wrong and looking over to where the little terrier had been I saw her lying on the ground, her face in the dirt. I felt her heart and found the action slow. She could get no air into her lungs. Within two or three minutes from the time she first bit the toad she died. Bloody foam oozed from her mouth and nose. About this time I became very sick myself. The effect did not wear off until about half an hour. The police dog revived in about 15 minutes.'

Complaint Filed In Justice Court J. A. Mendoza will appear before Judge John Dennis June 21 to have a hearing on charges filed by R. E. Lesley, manager of a service station at 1100 Narbonne avenue. The complaint alleges obtaining money and property under false pretense. Mendoza had been released on $150 bail following his arrest.

AKRON BOWS TO SAN FRANCISCO

Economy Order May Close L. B. Sheriff's Office

Residents of the southern part of the county who desire to contact the sheriff's office after July 1 will be obliged to go to Los Angeles instead of Long Beach, it was pointed out today with announcement by Sheriff W. L. Traeger that the Long Beach office is to be closed in order that his department may stay within the new limits imposed by the new county budget, fixed by the board of supervisors. Proposal to eliminate the office is drawing protests of Long Beach residents. However, elimination of this office is but one of several things the department must do, Traeger says. Twenty-one civil court bailiffs in Los Angeles county courts and 16 junior deputy sheriffs and one stenographer also must go, it is stated.

Miss Fossum to Begin Teaching

Miss Joy Fossum, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Fossum, is starting a class in piano and is offering a special opportunity to all those who enroll during the summer months to receive instruction at a moderate price. She may be reached at her home, 1621 Cota avenue, telephone 581-W.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Reid and daughter of Los Angeles were guests of Mrs. Bert Sharon Monday.

The navy's big dirigible Akron thrilled San Franciscans when she sailed over the city en route to her base at Sunnyvale. At the left she is shown sailing high over the Bank of America Building, and at the right, over the Telephone Building. She may visit interior California towns and sail north to the Puget sound district, if plans of naval authorities are carried through.

Good Progress Is Made On Vermont Avenue Paving Job

Exceptionally good progress is being made in the paving of Vermont and Amaranth avenues. It was learned today in a check-up with E. A. Burt, construction engineer for the county road department. Last week the contractors, the Peck Construction Company, began the laying of the third strip of cement concrete and Anaheim street. Each strip is 10 feet wide, providing a 30-foot street, with rock and oil shoulders.

N. B. P. W. Members Attend Dist. Meeting

Mrs. Juliet M. Young, president; Miss Beatrice Hughes, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Hutchins, of the Torrance N. B. P. W., accompanied by Jack Hutchins and Vivian Young, drove to River-side Monday evening, where the first three attended a dinner and district meeting of the California State League. On Tuesday night, June 21, the Torrance club will hold its regular social meeting at Miss Teala Billini's studio, 837 1/2 So. Burlington, Los Angeles. Members are requested to meet at 7 o'clock that evening at the Narrows' Home, 1119 Cota avenue, where transportation will be provided for those who have no cars.

Woman Injured In Odd Accident Asks Damages

Injuries suffered in a freak accident at Carson road and Wilmington boulevard last November 30 echoed in Superior court today with the filing of a $35,000 damage action. The suit was brought by Irene Englehorn, against Claude Miller, driver of a truck. Miss Englehorn was a passenger in an automobile that was in collision with a truck and trailer at the intersection, the complaint states. The car was thrown for considerable distance, and the truck then landed on top of the car, demolishing it. She asks $183.50 for physicians' services in addition to the $35,000.
